Profile: Steve Sellers, President

Steve Sellers is the third president of Cru/Campus Crusade for Christ International. He previously served as the Executive Vice President and U.S. National Director.

Sellers joined Cru staff in 1976 at Marshall University. He has served in several capacities, including local campus director, regional area director and National Director for U.S. Campus Ministry. As a leader he has encouraged the ministry to discover new ways to connect people to Jesus on campuses and in communities. This includes a digital strategy that currently sees 3400 people daily begin a relationship with God.

In 2002, Sellers became the vice president for Global Student Ministry and later the vice president for the Americas and Oceania.

Sellers received his bachelor's degree in Business Administration from the University of North Carolina. He earned his Master of Arts in Biblical Studies from the International School of Theology.

He and his wife Christy have four married children and live in Orlando, Florida, where Cru is headquartered.
