

Jakes' Leadership Conference Draws 8,000+ Attendees & Generates $15.2 Million for Orlando Economy—DALLAS, May 17, 2012

ATTENDEES OFFERED TOP-DOWN APPROACH TO LEADERSHIP DEVELOPMENT

During the 2012 International Pastors and Leadership Conference in Orlando, Florida, Bishop T.D. Jakes addressed the church's most pressing needs with approximately 8,000 pastors and church leaders. Attendees representing 35 countries, including South Africa and India, traveled to hear Jakes and industry leaders discuss topics such as the value of a good name, surviving the recession and what to do in a crisis.

Bishop Jakes' Pastors & Leadership conference brought $15.2 million in tourism revenue to the Orlando area during the three-day period, tripling the economic impact from the same conference in 2011.

After a day of breakout sessions, Bishop Jakes took to the stage on Thursday evening, May 3, to welcome attendees and delivered a message entitled "The Rainmaker," urging attendees to join with God to change the 'droughts' of their lives. The conference ended on Sat, May 5 with a message by Bishop T.D. Jakes, followed by a message by Bishop Noel Jones.

"These are the days of the rainmakers. If you hear it in your spirit, you have [divine] permission to push it into your life," said Bishop Jakes.
